The latest returns in the Edmonton constituency give the total vote cast at 5,756. Of this Oliver polled 3,527 and Secord 1,523, leaving Oliver's majority 1,998, with one poll. Oliver, to hear from.

Peter Talbot, Liberal, in the Strathcona constituency, is now leading by 1,893, with about fifteen polls to hear from.

STABBING AFFAIR

A number of men were sitting talking in the office of the Grand Central hotel Saturday evening about eight o'clock, when R. W. Hensel entered the room. Walking up to Chas. Campbell he drew a jackknife from his pocket and stabbed him on the head inflicting two bad gashes, one on the forehead and the other just above the ear. A third gash was received on the hand by Mr. Campbell in attempting to ward off the attack. The men near by quickly drew Hensel away and the police being called in, he was taken to the police station where he is still held.

Mr. Campbell immediately received medical attention and is able to be out this morning.

Mr. Campbell had never spoken to Hensel before and did not even know the man by name. It is stated that Hensel had had a quarrel with another man earlier in the evening whom he mistook Campbell for. Hensel was not under the influence of liquor when he made the attack on Campbell. He will likely come up for trial this evening.

The 8 o'clock mass yesterday was said by Father Jan, O. M. I. Father Philipport, O. M. I. preached in French. Rev. Father Hotw, O. M. I. officiated at High Mass. Rev. Father Ledue spoke in English and French.

In the evening there was Procession of the Holy Rosary instead of Vespers. The Sunday school children took part in the procession and sang with the members of the choir. Rev. Father Jan, O. M. I., preached in English.

Rev. Father Ledue, O. M. I., left. Rev. Father Ledue, O. M. I., left. Rev. Father Ledue is well known among pioneers, having been working for 50 years in the Territories.

The ladies of St. Joachim's church will hold a social to-morrow evening at 8 p. m. in Hourston Hall. All members of the congregation, especially the new comers and the young people are cordially invited to spend a pleasant evening together. Admission free. Refreshments free.

Rev. Father Dyjak, of Rabbit Hills, held services for the Greek Catholics in St. Joachim's church at 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Their own church newly built by N. G. Pomerleau on Namygo avenue will be consecrated on November 27 by Rev. Father Elias of Beaver Lake.

Innisfail Creamery

Frost Lane:

The summer season of 1904 at the Innisfail Creamery ended on Monday. The returns show that during the six months 126,223.3 inches of cream were received, and 158,719 lbs. of butter manufactured, an average of 21,937 inches, and 26,433 lbs. monthly. Last year the total summer make was 141,375 lbs. from 118,229 inches of cream. The increase this season was 17,347 lbs., over the output of the summer season of 1903.

The following is a statement of the cream receipts and make of butter months.

1903	Crm.	But.
May.....	11,212.1	17,751
June.....	21,944.7	25,074
July.....	30,947.7	38,407
August.....	23,820.4	29,034
September.....	19,115.2	22,197
October.....	12,989.4	14,148

Total..... 118,229.5 141,375

1904	Crm.	But.
May.....	9,799.1	14,151
June.....	22,482.6	27,966
July.....	34,304.4	43,966
Aug.....	25,832.8	33,354
Sept.....	23,378.8	29,963
Oct.....	10,105.5	12,319

Total..... 126,223.2 158,719

While the increase this season has not been so great as it was last year over the preceding one, it is still large enough to encourage the dairy farmers and the patrons to further efforts. The quality of the output will probably average several points more this season, but there is still room for improvement in this line. Only by the particular attention to the detail in care of cows, milking, separating, and care of cream until delivered can the desired end be obtained. In this connection it is possible that radical changes will next summer be inaugurated in the gathering of cream and other matters.

VEGREVILLE

Mr. A. Fleming, of the Vermillion Trading Co., and Mr. W. Clement made a trip to the British Colony this week on business.

All the railroad graders who have been working between Lavoys and the Vermillion river have now moved westward across the river. Work is being pushed rapidly forward and we hope that it will continue to do so in spite of the elections.

Mr. Ritchie, Postmaster of Vegreville, spent last week in Strathcona on business.

Mr. E. L. Poulin has had an addition put to the front of his store, which he is going to use as a show window. This adds much to the appearance of his store.

The Vermillion Trading Co. have had their large new store freshly painted.

Mr. Geo. Robertson, implement and hardware merchant of this town is having his residence also newly painted. Elections—railroad or no railroad—daunt not the spirit of industry shown continually by the citizens of this village.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Argue paid an extended visit to Warwick District this week.

Settlers are flocking in here every day and load after load of oats are going east to the grading camps, all of which business, with the ordinary local trade, makes Vegreville one of the busiest places in Alberta. Merchants and blacksmiths are at work till 10 or 11 p. m. almost every day.

A concert is to be held in the Vermillion school, 4 1-2 miles northwest of here, on the evening of Nov. 18th at 7 o'clock. The programme consists of readings, recitations, dialogues, orchestral music, minstrel performance, tableaux, pantomime, etc. This is the first concert of its kind held in the Vermillion Valley and it promises to be a great success. All are welcome.

Vegreville skaters are hoping to have an open air rink to perform on during the "slippery hours" of winter. Already skates are being prepared, for, within a few days there is expected to be ample opportunity for exercising them. Vegreville sport enthusiasts can play a little football, a little football and this winter we hope to be able to skate a little.

Mr. Thompson from Ontario has opened an implement department in the village and has on hand a line of first class waggons and sleighs.

The Canadian Northwest Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

ENTRY.—Entry may be made per the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for someone to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent, may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler has obtained a patent for his homestead, or a certificate for the issue of such patent, countersigned in the manner prescribed by this Act, and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses 2, 3 or 4, must or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings of their accommodation, cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, and have besides 80 acres substantiated.

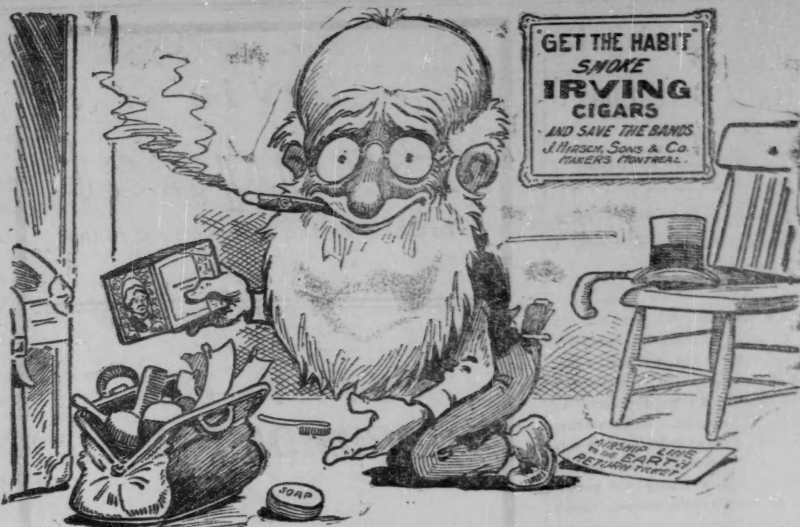

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office, in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—In addition to Free Grant lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

THE WISE OLD MAN PACKS HIS GRIP

On the "warg d" planet there once did dwell
An old man, wondrous wise,
Who made up his mind, one winter day,
To travel through the skies

He bought his ticket on the air ship line,
With a card rip back to Ma's,
Then packed his clothes in a small grip,
And his trunk with IRVING CIGARS.

ITALIAN ELECTIONS

ARE WAR LIKE AFFAIRS

An Attempt made to Stab a Party Leader in Parading the Streets. A General Fight

Rome, November 4th.—Interest in the electoral campaign increases with the approach of the election which will take place Sunday, November 6th. There have been a few disorders. At Naples a socialist demonstration ended in a general fight in which several were wounded. At Foggia, while Ex-Deputy Maury was parading the streets with several thousand of his supporters an unidentified man tried to stab him in the back. A friend in shielding Signor Maury was wounded in the arm. The would-be assassin escaped.

STEAMER WRECKED

St. John's, Newfoundland, November 5th.—The coastal steamer Portia, with 104 passengers struck on the Penguin Islands at midnight. She was released subsequently but was making so much water that the passengers took to the boats and proceeded to the main land while the ship steamed for the nearest harbor where she was beached to effect temporary repairs. The Portia is a new ship of 1000 tons and was making her second voyage.

ALL MEET WITH APPROVAL

Indianapolis, November 4th.—All of the propositions voted on by the members of the International Typographical Union have carried except the one providing for an increase in the salaries of the International President and International Secretary-Treasurer.

CIVIC BANQUET

A large attendance is expected at the Civic Banquet tonight at the Thistle Rink. The interior has been handsomely decorated. One is a photo display of Edmonton scenery, past and present, and a magnificent log chalet. The building will be comfortably heated with a furnace and stove.

A general invitation is extended to ladies to be present after 9:30. A cloak room is arranged, and also a refreshment room where cake and coffee will be served. The side galleries of the rink are reserved for the ladies, to give them an opportunity to hear the speech making. The list of speakers from outside points appeared in Saturday's issue.

Tickets $2.50, may be had from the committee.

Washing Proves

There's only one real test of unshrinkable underwear—the wash tub. Two or three hard rubbings will soon shorten the usual so-called "unshrinkable" underwear. That's why the directions for washing are so elaborate—why there are so many "do's" and "don'ts."

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear

is absolutely unshrinkable. The wash tub proves it. Your dealer guarantees this to you—and we back up that guarantee to him. We know it won't shrink because it can't shrink. Our special process takes out the shrink before the garments are cut. Even then, each one is tested by washing.

1870 - EDMONTON - 1904

The year 1870 is taken as a starting point in this sketch because it was in that year that Rupert's Land passed from the control of the Hudson's Bay Company, and became part of the Dominion of Canada.

Life in the trading post of Fort Edmonton in the year 1870 was not without excitement, as the year opened with a double murder; two Sarcee Indians who had come in to trade with a band of Blackfeet, became smitten with the charms of two half-breed maidens, and remained behind their party after they had done trading. When they finally did start home, they were escorted as far as the forks of Pigeon lake trail, and there killed by a half-breed Takoot's, and an Indian named Big Crow. Takoot's appeared in the office of the Fort the next day and gave the chief factor a full account of the deed, finishing the recital by pulling a big knife still red with the blood of his victims, from his belt, saying, "there is the knife that I finished them with."

Just before the break-up of the river in spring, a trading party of Blackfeet came in, some eight men, seven women and a baby. There were about one hundred and fifty Indians, Crees, and Stonies, camped around the Fort, and they thought it was a good chance to revenge the death of their chief, Macgriffin, who had been treacherously killed by the Blackfeet a short time since. The Hudson's Bay Company did all they could to purchase the lives of the Blackfeet, and paid the Crees a large amount in goods and provisions to let them depart in peace. They also sent to St. Albert and got in some half-breeds to act as guards to the Blackfeet, and so that they got safely away. The Blackfeet started off with their guards, and crossed the river on the ice just where the ferry now runs, not a Cree or Stonie was in sight; when the party were about halfway up the hill on the south side of the river it seemed as if every clump of willows sheltered an Indian and the wild war whoops started after the Blackfeet. They caught them upon the top of the hill, and surrounded them, the half-breeds stepped to the side and the Crees poured a volley into the Blackfeet; where the balls went to no one can tell, but not a Blackfoot was touched, and they, without firing a shot, let the Crees pass, but as they were running away, four men and three women were shot down, and one of the women was carrying a baby. Papasak, Takoot's brother, struck the baby with a war club and stung it, and his sister, well known to many old-timers in Edmonton as Bob Sligh, picked up the baby and tossed it into the air and as it came down caught it on the point of her knife. When she passed the Fort half an hour afterwards, drenched with blood, and singing war songs, she was a horrible sight. The wounded Blackfeet got into the bush and escaped, the Crees being afraid to follow them. The dead Blackfeet, both men and women, were scalped and mutilated in every conceivable way. The Crees and Stonies had a grand scalp dance, which lasted over two days and nights. The dance was held just about where Livock's house now stands.

When the Blackfeet who escaped got home to their camp a large war party started out for Edmonton and arrived across the river just before sunset. Mr. David McDougall and the Hudson's Bay Co. trader had arrived from Pigeon lake with their winter's trade of furs, a short time before. The ice in the river was not so bad as it had been, leaving a narrow channel across the river. Mr. McDougall saved most of his furs by crossing them in a skiff. The Hudson's Bay Company's trader was left on the other side. It was a tough and go with all parties. The Blackfeet fired volley after volley at the skiff, but luckily hit no one. At the Fort all was confusion. The Indians, scared to death, struck their tents and fled inside the Fort. All gates were shut and locked but one, and through that gate the Indians came, dogs, babies, men and women, a wild mix-up—all ruffly believing that the Blackfeet would cross the river. Arms were issued to the Company's men, the bastions were manned, the cannon loaded, the gates barricaded, and the siege of Edmonton was on. The Blackfeet built big fires across the river and amused themselves firing at the Fort, but did no damage. They took possession of the furs and goods, left across the river, and at daylight not one was in sight. Guards were, however, kept in the Bastions for some weeks after their departure, for no one could be sure whether the war party had gone home or were watching in the woods, and were looking for a place to cross. Every day some alarm would be given—some Indian or half-breed would come in with some scare yarn, and so the excitement was kept up. The day after the departure of the Blackfeet the Rev. George McDougall and Chief Factor Lawrence Clark, arrived, with the spring packet. Mr. McDougall was from his mission at Victoria, and Mr. Clark from his post at Carlton. They brought us the first news of the Red Rebellion. In the summer of 1870 the smallpox broke out amongst the Indians and half-breeds, and a great many died. Some precautionary measures were adopted at Fort Edmonton, and there were only one or two cases inside the Fort. A doctor was sent up in the fall of the year by the Government, but he arrived too late as a regiment of doctors could have done little to help the Indians. Captain, now General Butler, was also sent up by the Government and paid Edmonton a visit during the winter of 1870-71. On this return he wrote his book, "The Great Lone Land." The name was an appropriate one then, for south of Edmonton as far as the United States boundary line there was not a house, except the mission house at Pigeon Lake. West to the Rocky Mountains there was the settlements of St. Albert and Lac Ste. Anne; east, "The missions at Victoria, Whitefish Lake and Lac La Piche, and the Hudson's Bay posts at these places. To-day, the scene is changed. The land is no longer a lone one, and the next thirty-four years will see a greater change. In 1870 the plains were black with buffalo. A drive of forty or fifty miles south of Edmonton brought one into the thick of them.

In the summer of 1871 the first survey party came to Edmonton in the charge of Frank Moberly. Mr. Moberly wintered at Edmonton and his party went back to Fort Garry. In the winter of 1871, just before the New Year, the Rev. George McDougall moved up from Victoria, and took up his quarters in a house just finished for him—the first house built outside the Fort. It stood where the high school now stands, the trees around the school being planted by Mr. McDougall in 1872. In the fall of 1872 Mr. Sanford Fleming, and party came to Edmonton and crossed the mountains via Jasper's house, and the Rev. P. in ip l Gr n, who accompanied the party, wrote "From Ocean to Ocean."

up faster than any of us to-day imagine. Steamers will navigate its waters from Hudson's Hope to Lake Athabasca, and down the McKenzie to the Arctic ocean. Who can say what wealth the north land may have in store. For all this land Edmonton will be the supplying point.

Edmonton has grown from trading post to city through its natural advantages. It has had no aid from Government or from railways; rather the reverse. Edmonton takes on itself the dignity of a city with every hope that the future will offer greater opportunities for development than the past has done.

The citizens of Edmonton have not been slow to avail themselves of every chance that has offered for bettering their position, and have reason to feel proud of the success they have achieved. It may safely be prophesied that they will not neglect to take advantage of the greater opportunities now offering.

It has been impossible in the limits of an article like this to even touch on the different steps in the advancement of the present city of Edmonton. The one thing that has always held first place in one's thoughts was the transportation question. When a cart with an iron tyre and bushed hub took the place of the old Red River squaller, it seemed to the old-timers that the question was settled, and when an iron point was put on the axle, the question seemed solved for all time. Steamboats were put on the river, and it looked for a while as if the occupation of the freighter was gone. When the C. P. R. was built, and we found ourselves within two hundred miles of a railway—eight hundred miles less than we had before—(O—h, a—p—p—e—d—e—t, we had made a great stride forward; and so we had. But our needs grew faster and greater, and improvement in the transportation is still the great question. The country and climate we have, and all that is wanted is population, a market for what they can grow, and transportation to reach that market.

The scenes described in the opening paragraphs of this sketch will serve to show how quickly changes occur in a new country like this to an old-timer looking back. The years seem filled with neglected opportunities, neglected not because they were not seen, but because we failed to realize just how fast the country was advancing. With the improved facilities for advancement that we now have, how much faster will that advance be! Let the young men of the new city of Edmonton, looking back in their turn, over thirty years hence, tell us what they have to reproach us to make to themselves, as have even the most successful old-timers of to-day that they allowed opportunities to slip by them.

Ambitious Red Deer

Advertise:

Epoch making events in Red Deer treat upon each other's heels so fast they follow. Saturday evening electric lights flashed forth the message that henceforth Red Deer would be among the number of up-to-date towns adopting that method of lighting. Scarcely had our wonder and appreciation ceased when the laying of the first pipe of the waterworks took place, and next the conference of the town officials and members of the board of trade with the C. P. R. officials regarding this town as a divisional point of the C. and E. Line.

Wednesday morning Messrs. Jamieson and Dennis, C. P. R. officials from Calgary, arrived in Red Deer in their car and were waited on by the town officials and some members of the Board of Trade regarding the prospects of Red Deer becoming a turning point for trains. The gentlemen had come prepared to do business, and soon a satisfactory conclusion was reached.

The C. P. R. asked the town for about 171.4 acres of land west of the tracks, extending from the old tank to the river, giving the town two crossings, one at the north end and one at the south.

For this they propose to make Red Deer a turning point for freight trains install good and commodious stock yards, switching yards, sidings and repair shops for running repairs, operating on the C. and E. and its branches, north of Calgary, and when the trade justifies them they will make this a divisional point.

The land asked for can be had for about the sum of $3,000.

The plans and proposition in a definite form will be forwarded here by the C. P. R. in the near future, and then the people will have the chance of seeing the entire proposition.

It scarcely needs comment. The citizens and business men here have shown the stuff they are made of and the belief in their town, and no doubt will assist the town officials in furthering the proposition.

The small outlay for the returns is amply justified and no doubt this place from now on will have a growth unprecedented in its history.

MADE BY HAND

I HAVE each Pharaoh cigar rolled by hand! I do this in order that the leaves that go into the filler may be properly placed, with the top towards the burning end of the cigar.

It also enables the packing of the filler to be properly done—you will find my Pharaoh will smoke easily and evenly from end to end!

I see that the materials are of the highest grade as well.

Cuban tobacco I myself select from the Manicureagua district, in the Province of Santa Clara, is the filler—the most expensive Connecticut Broadleaf is the binder, and a clear, beautiful Sumatra I import from Holland is the wrapper.

My Pharaoh makes a mighty good smoke for the money.
